MRS. CARMAN BREAKS DOWN Whole Court Room Weeps With Prisoner

Two Who Love Mrs. Carman Best

Little Elizabeth Carman, nine-year-old daughter of the accused woman, and Dr. Edwin Carman, the husband, Dr. Carman has lost flesh and lines have appeared in his face since Mrs. Carman's arrest, and the laughing little girl has become sober and constrained. They sit near Mrs. Carman in court, and comfort her with their presence.

GIRL MAY RE-ELECT ARREST

ALLIES HAVE CUT THE ENEMY'S LINE SOUTH OF OSTEND

While today's official reports from London and Paris conservatively say that the general situation in the great Franco-Belgian war operations continues favorable to the allies, unofficial news dispatches make it appear that the Germans are being effectively driven back from the Belgian coast territory.

"The German general staff has left Ghent and there are strong rumors of a severe German defeat," says the Rotterdam correspondent of the London Daily Mail. "Messages from different points of the northwest frontier agree that the German coast army is being rolled up like a ribbon."

"The German cavalry has been unable to manoeuvre in the tangled like country and the German big guns are stuck in bogs. By a magnificent attack, it is stated, the Franco-British forces have cut the German line south of Ostend."

This news is supported by a dispatch from Amsterdam which says the lines of communication, supplying the German troops near Ostend and Nieuport, have been cut near Eecloo, half-way between Ghent and Bruges. The 30,000 Germans who were compelled to fall back from the Ostend-Nieuport line of trenches are reported to be in danger of capture.

The Germans are still making violent attacks against the allies all along the line, according to the Paris War Office announcement issued at 5 o'clock this afternoon. "As a whole," says the statement, "the situation of the allies' forces remain unchanged." Fighting along the Somme near Arras has been particularly violent.

According to London dispatches, the allies recaptured Lille on Tuesday.

GERMAN RETREAT IN POLAND.
In the eastern theatre of hostilities, the Russian War Office reports that the German advance in Poland has been transformed into a hasty and, in some parts, disorderly retreat. The Kaiser's troops are reported being pursued by Russian cavalry.

"According to all reports, the battle along the Vistula," a Petrograd dispatch says, "for the vastness of the opposing armies and the destruction of life, will be the fiercest of the war. The magnitude of the Russian victory today increases as each additional report filters in. It will be several days before accurate figures of the German losses can be collected, but they probably approach 200,000."

An unofficial dispatch from Petrograd says there is a persistent report that Przemyśl, the great Galician stronghold, has been taken by the Russians.

Congratulations for Munsterberg

Professor Hugo Munsterberg of Harvard is receiving telegrams from all over the country, as well as messages from local friends, congratulating him on the way the Harvard administration brought to an end the Munsterberg-Wiesner incident. Professor Munsterberg's resignation, tendered on the report that Major Wiesner of London had offered $10,000,000 to Munsterberg was released by Harvard, has been withdrawn.

Venus de Milo and Mona Lisa in Hiding

PARIS, Oct. 23.—Measures adopted for safeguarding the principal masterpieces at the Louvre, Cluny, Chantilly, Versailles and other national treasure houses are veiled in official secrecy, but it is an open secret, probably known to half of France, that some 750 of the most famous portable pictures in the Louvre left Paris early in September for a place of greater security. Officially speaking, nothing is known of the present whereabouts of the "Venus de Milo," "Mona Lisa" or any other member of that most illustrious company of silent refugees.

Duke of Roxburghe Reported Wounded

LONDON, Oct. 23.—A dispatch to the Star says that the Duke of Roxburghe, a captain in the Scots Guards, has been wounded in France.

The family name of the Duke of Roxburghe is Henry John Innes-Ker, and he is a member of one of the oldest and most aristocratic families in Scotland. The wife of the Duke of Roxburghe was May Goulet, the American millionaire.

Reymond, Famous Aviator, Killed

PARIS, Oct. 23.—Dr. Emile Reymond, a member of the French Senate, the president of the National Aviation Commission and one of the foremost amateur aviators in France, has been killed in an aerial duel near Verdun.

French Buy Cavalry Horses 'for Food'

DENVER, Oct. 23.—Two carloads of horses went out of Fort Collins, Col., in the last two days purchased there by agents of the French government who said they were for use in France, "as food."

The speakers at the meeting will include South Boston Senators Benjamin M. Twining, the following have been asked to speak: Representative John J. Murphy, Representative-elect John N. Levens and William J. Foley, Senator-elect W. J. Sullivan, Representative Cronin, Representative-elect David J. Casey and Edward Morris.

ACCUSED KISSES CHILD AND THEN COLLAPSES

MINEOLA, N. Y., Oct. 23.—Mrs. Florence Carman, accused of the murder of Mrs. Louise Bailey in Freeport on June 30 last, remained unshaken and smiling throughout a grueling cross-examination today. She maintained her innocence throughout and declared that she was upstairs in her room when Mrs. Bailey was shot to death in Dr. Carman's office.

Not until she had left the stand did she lose her self-control, and then it was only after a touching demonstration of love by her nine-year-old daughter, Elizabeth, that broke the barriers of reserve and caused the tears to freely flow.

Elizabeth had followed her mother on the stand. The child's examination was brief. Little Elizabeth testified that she had heard the fatal shot and that she had seen her mother in her room. After leaving the stand, Elizabeth walked down to her mother and kissed her.

DRISCOLL PROTEST MONDAY

A mass meeting of protest against police methods in South Boston will be held Monday night in Maynard Hall or I-street. It was announced today.

Former Representative James J. Twining is the organizer of the meeting, and Mayor James M. Curley's help made it possible to secure a hall.

The primary reason for the meeting is to protest against the arrest and conviction for "loitering" of Katherine Driscoll, a little lame girl, who lives on Driscoll street. Protest against the arrest have been many, and Mr. Twining explained the purpose of his meeting thus:

"To protest against the police methods in this incident as the Driscoll case. South Boston people know of incidents in their own neighborhood. I want to tell them about incidents all over the district. Katherine Driscoll has been asked to come herself to the meeting and tell her story, and may do so. Mr. Twining gave his thanks for Mayor Curley's help thus:

"We'll take a chance on the Dr. O's bill," said a pretty girl student. "We object to the conviction of Katherine Driscoll, a little lame girl, who lives on Driscoll street, for loitering."

Dr. Flower on Way to New York Trial

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Dr. Richard Flower, alias Dr. Richard Flower, who was arrested in Toronto, Ont., on a charge of carrying a deadly weapon, after being held nearly eleven years, waived extradition and fled on the way to this city in the custody of Detective Conville.

CUSHIONLESS CARS SCORED BY STUDENTS

Students at the Newton High School living in Atholton today registered an emphatic protest against the cushionless cars of the Boston Street Railway Company in court. The members of the Bailey family were in the first of the official cars to arrive in the courtroom. They took their accustomed seats in the rear of the bus.

The accused woman passed a restful night and ate a hearty breakfast before going to court. She exhibited no nervousness when she appeared in court. The members of the Bailey family were in the first of the official cars to arrive in the courtroom. They took their accustomed seats in the rear of the bus.

KISSES NOTHER.

The members of the Carman family came into court a few minutes after 10 o'clock, with the exception of Dr. Carman, who was late in arriving. When the defendant came into court she kissed her mother and niece and then entered into earnest conference with her counsel. She was dressed in the same blue plaid suit and wore the same black plush hat.

To avoid the disagreeable scenes of yesterday, when women were crushed and had their hats and clothing torn and ripped, only persons with authority were permitted to enter the courtroom this morning. It has been estimated that the trial was in evidence this morning. The curious came from all over the city.

HARVARD WAR TALK SCORED IN CRIMSON

Norman J. Silverthorn, a first-year man in the graduate schools at Harvard, started a hot discussion over "Characteristics of the letter which appears in the Crimson today." Mr. Silverthorn wants the Harvard professors to quit giving their opinions about the war and about how the American people ought to look at the war. He is willing for anyone who has any facts to present to bring them forth, but he does not want any more arguments. The letter is generally believed to be aimed at President-elect Woodrow Wilson. Professor Louis Wiesner and Professor Thomas N. Carver, one undergraduate, said: "Silverthorn can hardly mean Professor Munsterberg."

PAULINE CHASE "PAJAMA GIRL" TOWED BRITON

Boston folk were interested today to hear that once more "Polly Chase the Pink Pajama Girl" is planning to be wed.

This time the charming little actress is engaged to Alexander V. Drummond of the West Kent Yeomanry, son of George Drummond of Drummond's Bank. The engagement is announced in dispatches from London.

Pauline Chase made her first appearance in Boston, and her friends here are legion. In "The Rounders" and "The Cider Girl" her work in the chorus helped to attract attention, and then came "The Liberty Bells." In one scene here the chorus was supposed to appear in night gowns. Miss Chase, as she herself says, "Because I was used to them and they were more comfortable," was permitted to wear the pajamas; and the morning after the opening night she woke up to find herself famous.

It was in Boston that she received her first "speaking part," but her real arrival as a star came in 1905 when she took the part of Peter Pan in a revival of Barrie's play. Before this she had taken a dancing part in Peter, while Miss Adams starred.

RETURNED TO LONDON.
She started in America in "Our Miss Gibbs," and then returned to London, where she has since been playing.

Miss Chase says herself, "I've worked in my pajamas wherever it was possible. They're my mascot. I've been in 'Peter Pan' and also in 'Miss Gibbs,' and when I haven't been able to use them in my play I've had a pair in my dressing room just for luck."

Miss Chase has again and again been reported engaged, and scores of her admirers have failed to win favor. Once when she was playing in Boston she was asked to be married by a man who tried to attract her attention by lighting matches. He was arrested and confined to a cell for the disturbance, but was released.

FRIEND OF BARBIE.
Another time she was about to marry young Harry, a student named George C. Cannon, but the only preacher they could find was a German, and though young Cannon, having studied German at Harvard, was able to answer "Ja" to questions, Miss Chase positively refused to be married in German and the thing fell through.

Miss Chase was a close friend of Pauline Chase, the "Pink Pajama Girl," engaged to marry Alexander V. Drummond of the West Kent, England, Yeomanry, son of George Drummond of Drummond's Bank.

Mr. James M. Harris. She was the author's girlfriend. In 1910 she announced her engagement to Claude Grahame-White, the English aviator, who was giving exhibitions while she was in "Our Miss Gibbs." At the time she said she would marry him the following Spring and leave the stage, but the wedding did not materialize, and the following year she announced the breaking of the engagement. Shortly before the Grahame-White engagement, Miss Chase was said to have promised to marry Nicholas Jervis Wood of London, but this was promptly denied. The actress was born in Washington in 1885, and educated in the convent of the Sisters of the Holy Cross in New York.

CAPTAIN'S SON LOST; DISABLED SHIP IN PORT

The schooner Henrietta Simmon came into port today with her flag at half-mast, her rigging in ribbons and her captain, Oscar M. Snowman, mourning for the loss of his son who was swept overboard in a recent sale last night.

"It was off Gloucester," the captain said. "I had the wheel and Oscar my boy, was with me. We were hitting it pretty good, but the north-easter was blowing to beat the land and it took two of us to handle the wheel."

"Then, all of a sudden, something went wrong. And the main boom blew. She whipped across and the rigging snapped like so many whips. The sail fell, starting and hanging over us, and it caught Oscar and it slung him against the bulwark."

"I saw him, but before I could stir the boy was hoisted out over the water, and then he tumbled out of sight. He must have been stunned. There was never a cry out of him."

"The schooner was disabled. We couldn't do a thing for him even if he was afloat. But I reckon he sunk in a shot."

They made temporary repairs on the Henrietta and brought her in to Boston under fore and mizen sails from Portland, Me., and was out of South Gardner for New York in lumber and fish. Captain Snowman sailed from Five Islands Me. The boy was Oscar M. Snowman, Jr.

Moore Says Beans Will Be Condemned

"Beanshewers will surely come to the point where they will condemn beans, as this popular dish does not nourish genius," said Dr. F. Moore Moore, in lecture on "Creative Health" at Tremont Temple.

RUMORS ABOUT DOCTOR AROUSED HER SUSPICIONS, DECLARES MRS. CARMAN.

ACCUSED WOMAN'S COMPOSED ON GRILL

While anxious to try and get into the courtroom and see how the fair defendant would fare against the rumors, she was not allowed to pass through the doors.

BEGAN TO SUSPECT DOCTOR A YEAR AGO, SAYS MRS. CARMAN

An Omnious Adage

When a lady patient living far from the city called on a physician she apologized for asking him to call on her.

"Don't speak of it," said the doctor, "I have been called on by other patients in that vicinity, and can kill two birds with one stone."

Why you should be careful what disinfectant you buy

MANY WORKLESS DISINFECTANTS

According to Dr. Charles Frederick Abbott, of Brooklyn, no provision of the Federal Pure Food and Drug law, as then enacted, and no other Federal enactment requires the quality of proprietary disinfectants and preservatives, but the Federal Government has issued no disinfectants. After a conference with Dr. S. S. Goldwater, Commissioner of Health, Dr. Abbott was informed that he had introduced into the 35th Legislature a bill compelling manufacturers to state upon the labels of all proprietary disinfectants the ingredients and their strength.

These disinfectants now on the market are simply colored water, and of one

Sypho-Nathol has been favored by the medical profession for thirty years; a little book of uses in every package shows how to—

- remove grease liberally from kitchen sinks
- make water closets hygienically clean
- relieve the pain of itches from worms and insect bites
- disinfect bugabe patches, privies, campgrounds, etc.
- disinfect sick-rooms and prevent well people from becoming sick
- remedy vaginal troubles
- make the bath-tub and toilet clean after bathing
- dissolve dead matter, repel and kill rats, mice, etc.

conventional. One quart, 40¢ worth, would be required to get the germ-killing efficiency of 1 lb. of carbolic acid.

Just the contrary with Sypho-Nathol

One tablespoonful of Sypho-Nathol in a gallon of water makes a disinfectant 4½ times as strong as a carbolic acid solution.

This disinfectant and germicide has been on the market over 30 years. It is used in hundreds of thousands of homes. It is recommended by physicians in the most delicate cases.

Just the contrary with Sypho-Nathol

1. destroy unpleasant perspiration odors
2. put scalp in good condition and prevent hair from falling out
3. relieve the soreness of tired, aching feet instantly
4. relieve sore throat and catarrh
5. remedy diseased gums
6. relieve sunburn and prickly heat
7. relieve skin eruptions
8. drive out water-lice, cock-lice, bedbugs
9. wash away grease spots and stains from anything
10. destroy scales in fish-bowls, and keep the fish-bowls hygienically clean
11. remedy dry and discolored skin
12. remedy dry and discolored skin

Many substitutes have sprung up, using imitations of the name and the package. Tests will show that not one of these is the efficiency of Sypho-Nathol. Many are weak they are worthless—"mer water," as Dr. Fabet says.

Do not accept substitutes; because there is more profit in them.

—clean carpets of dust and germs, without affecting the fabric

—rid plants of destroying insects

—thoroughly clean away germs in cracks and corners

—take the itch out of mosquito bites
